DEER HUNTERS MUST OBSERVE CLOSED AREAS

A. P. Dean, Cleveland National forest supervisor, discloses that closed areas for deer hunting include quite a chunk of the 566,000-acre and Cuyamaca State parks, which also are closed to nimrods.

The closures, the forest supervisor explained, are because:

1—The area is an extreme fire hazard, and is closed to hikers as well as hunters.

2—The area is an all-year-round game refuge.

At the same time, the forest supervisor made it clear his office is anxious to cooperate with hunters and said that deer checking stations will be maintained at Descanso, Cameron, Alpine, Oak Grove and Henshaw ranger stations where deer tags may be validated.

Divided into three districts—Descanso, Palomar and Trabuco—Dean explained the closed areas as follows:

Trabuco—Closed by order of S. B. Shaw, regional forester, due to high fire hazard, and as a game refuge and including that area south from Santa Ana river canyon to Margarita peak.

Palomar—All of the area within the forest in the north and west parts of Palomar mountain within T-8-S, R-1-W; T-8-S, R-1-E; T-9-5, R-2-W; T-9-S, R-1-W, and sections 3 to 27, inclusive, of T-9-S, R-1-E. Lost valley area, two miles north of Hot Springs mountain, in sections 28 to 33, inclusive, of T-9-S, R-43, also will be closed because of fire hazard.

Descanso—Only closed area is game refuge which embraces the Laguna mountain area between Pine creek north of Pine valley and Oak valley south of Pine valley to Morena valley on the west and following along Kitchen creek on the east to the forest boundary.

In addition, Dean was careful to point out that "there is much private, Indian and city-owned land wihin and without the forest on which hunting may be prohibited by the property owner," and while such areas are not the concern of the forest service, he advised hunters to "respect the rights of such property owners."

This is understood to apply especially to Mendenhall, Love and Dyche valleys in the Palomar district, where signs have been posted by owners and where, it was reported unofficially, private guards will be on patrol to warn hunters out of the district.

At Dean's office, it was explained that areas closed because of the fire hazard and their value as watersheds have been closed since June 1 and will remain closed until after the first heavy rain. The Descanso district game refuge, while closed to hunting, is open to campers and hikers.

Chamber of Commerce Holds Good Meeting

The Lakeside Chamber of Commerce held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening in the Woman's Club building. The Ladies Aid of the Community Church served a very fine roast beef dinner to a full house. A number of invited guests were present from Suncrest Chamber of Commerce and the El Cajon Planning Commision.

President B. J. Conrad had charge of the meeting and made a number of announcements. The Chamber voted to assist the Lakeside Band and also the Farm Bureau with their exhibit at the county fair next month. The big number on the program was a talk by Mr. DeWald of the San Diego County Planning Commision. Mr. DeWald exhibited a few maps and discussed to some length his work of zoning residential districts. He displayed maps of Rancho Santa Fe and part of the El Cajon Valley. His attention was called to the Winter Gardens district and some sentiment favoring zoning was expressed. The Chamber has been invited to meet with the Farm Bureau on October 14th to hear discussed some of the intiative measures to be voted upon at this fall's election.

MILK STOOL MARATHON WILL DECIDE DAIRY MAID CHAMP

Among the many contests staged each fall at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, none attracts wider attention or keener interest than the annual battle of the dairy maids for the national championship. Open to unmarried girls from 14 to 24 years of age, this novel event consists of milking and churning bouts. Miss Nellie Goodhart shown above, a 16-year-old high school girl from Norwalk carried off first honors. She has announced her intention of defending her title this year. The qualifying contest will be held Sept. 17 and the finals Sept. 24.

SUPERVISOR B. A. SWEET PROPOSES CHANGE IN COUNTY CHARTER

Editor:

I would appreciate it very much if you would insert this in your paper as I am sure all of the people in the back country will be interested in this proposal:

Section 33 of our County Charter says in part "The Road Commissioner shall have direction and control over all work of construction, maintenance, and repair of roads, highways, and bridges—he shall have control and management of all county rock quarries, gravel pits, and all other materials, property, and instrumentalities necessary for and connected with the construction, maintenance, and repair of roads, highways and bridges."

I proposed to add to the above Section 33, the following provision:

"Provided, however, that said Road Commissioner shall in the discharge and performance of the above described functions and duties in each Supervisorial District, be subject to the immediate direction and control of the Supervisor of said district."

This provision would give a county supervisor a small amount of authority over the Road Commissioner in his respective district.

It has been proven to me that a large majority of the people in the country would like to be able to go to their Supervisor in matters of road management.

However, the Board of Supervisors refused to vote to put this on the ballot and consequently the people will not have an opportunity to vote on this amendment to the County Charter in the November election.

Bryan A. Sweet,
County Supervisor, 5th Dist.

CALIFORNIA PENSION PLAN'S THIRD CONSECUTIVE WEEK AT RUSS AUDITORIUM

Capacity crowds attending the weekly meetings of the California Pension Plan hae forced the organization to hold their meetings in the largest auditorium available in San Diego. The regular meeing will be held at the Russ Auditorium on Friday, Sept. 16. Roger Coffin, Executive Manager of San Diego and Imperial Counties, says that this meeting will be of special interest to the public as illustrations of similiar plans which operated successfully will be given to definitely prove the workability of the retirement Life Payments Act. The meeting begins promptly at 8:00 p. m. and is free and open to the public.

September 29 Is Last Day For Registering

Pro America is carrying on an intensive state-wide drive for registration before September 29th, the closing day of registration for the General Election in November.

Mrs. C. E. Adcock of San Franciso, State Chairman of Registration, has issued the following instructions to Pro America's various unit registration chairmen in California:

1. Register all qualified citizens who are not registered.
2. Reregister voters who have moved at any time, and have not registered.
3. Register young voters who will be 21 years of age on or before November 8, 1938 (election day).
4. Reregister all voters not voting at either 1936 Primary or General Election.

This is a section of the law little understood, as most voters do not realize that failure to vote at either Primary or General Election of the preceding even numbered year cancels their registration. Failure to vote at recent Primary does not affect voting at November General Election this year.

But all those who do not vote either at Primary or General Election this year must reregister for the 1940 election.

Girls Soft Ball Team Loses Championship

The Lakeside Girls soft ball team lost the game Tuesday night at Lemon Grove to the Mt. View girls and with it went the Championship of the National League.

The last game of the season will be played on the Lakeside Grammar school diamond Friday night, September 23rd. The club will be in full uniform and there will be a party after the game.

Lee Avra says that this will be a benefit game to help raise the $100 to pay for the new uniforms.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The committee of by-laws for the Woman's Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Allen Mitchell. Light refreshments were served. Those on the committee are Mrs. Ed Dwyer, Mrs. Oto Einer, Mrs. Tillie Cox, Mrs. Carl Howell, Mrs. G. H. Langworthy, Mrs. O. O. Jackson, Mrs Marvin Vice and Mrs. Allen Mitchell.

GENERAL PUBLIC ASKED TO SUPPORT LABOR INITIATIVE

In the interest of fair play and justice alike to employees, employers and the general public, the San Diego County Farm Bureau today called upon all voters to support in the November election the labor initiative sponsored by the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations.

"There is a sane way of settling all employment relation disputes," said E. O. Adams, chairman of the Labor Committee of the San Diego County Farm Bureau, "and the initiative which we recommend provides this method of substituting peace for war between employees and employers."

Strife and clashes in employment relations, he said, not only damage employees and employers but also an innocent public.

"Greatest security to all groups and all individuals," said Adams, "lies in continuance of work and expansion of business.

"Disorder and lawlessness must give way to a civilized and orderly method of negotiations for collective bargaining.

"The initiative prepared by the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations, of which Senator Sanborn Young is chairman, incorporates a new code in human relations built on the fundamentals of justice and fairness.

"This initiative proposes a twentieth century method for settling labor disputes instead of one characteristic of the dark ages."

The measure prepared by Senator Young's committee, and enthusiastically endorsed by citizens representing all groups and strata in California's economic life, specifically permits:

1. Peaceful picketing by employees on strike over wages, hours and physical conditions of employment.
2. Pickets to peacefully persuade others not to work for or patronize their employer.
3. Pickets to wear arm bands and carry banners.
4. Employees to organize and bargain collectively, free from interference by anyone.
5. Employees to strike at any time and for any reason.

At the same time, to protect an innocent public, the proposed measure prohibits:

1. Interference with the free use of highways.
2. Mass picketing, by limiting the number of pickets.
3. Coercion and intimidation of employees.
4. Secondary boycotts, applying to employers as well as to employees.
5. Picketing by outsiders.
6. "Hot cargoes."
7. Sit-down strikes.

"I can conceive nothing that is more fair," Mr. Adams said.

"Opposition to this measure can only come from those who want to see warfare in industry and business continued to the detriment of the state and all of its groups."

Irrigation Bond Election Monday

Attention is again called to the local election o Sep. 19.

This election, notice of which will be found elsewhere in this paper, calls for a bond issue of the Lakeside Irrigation District for the purpose of replacing the majority of the pipe lines within the district.

According to Byron Conrad, president of the board of directors, the board, faced with the necessity of pipe replacement, has cosidered this a very opportune time to call the election, in order to obtain a government P. W. A. grant before the cessation of the P. W. A. projects.

The proposed grant of $5,00.00 would make it necessary for the Irrigation District to issue bonds for only $7,000.00 of the $12,000.00 required for pipe line replacement. In other words, said Mr. Conrad, the $5,000.00 is a public service government gift, and without this donation the district itself would be required to raise the total $12,000.00.

Members of the board of directors of the district state that with countless minor breaks in the pipe lines, and one expensive major break last winter, disaster is threatened to the district's water supply. Within a short time the district must face the necessity of pipe replacement. While the present line, with good luck, may last another year, at any time, especially during the wet weather, a major break may cost several thousand dollars for repairs.

The bonds, amounting to $7,000.00, if voted favorably upon, will be taken up by the P. W. A. with such a low rate of interest, and easy payments, that,as stated by the directors, there will be no increase in the current tax rate.

Much credit is due to the management of the district's board of directors, in that the P. W. A. grant has been considered favorably by the authorities. The fact that the district has scrupulously met its obligations, having kept up the interest and also having retired $5,000.00 on the principle of the first bond issue, largely influenced the P. W. A. consideration.

HOME PLAY CENTER CONTEST CLOSES SEPTEMBER 20

The Home Play Center Contest, planned by San Diego County Coordinating Councils, to aid in community bettermen, will close definitely on September 20. Entries may be made up to that date.

The Council officials believe the interest aroused in fixing up back yards and introducing new play equipment and place for relaxation in the home grounds has a distinct value.

Every family which has seriously entered this contest, has enjoyed the planning, discussion, and ideas expressed by all members. Parents have gotten better notions as to what the boys and girls are thinking of, and children have been surprised at the thoughts of youth which still pervade the most serious of fathers and mothers.

Coordinating Councils, led by various local councils, will shortly open the way for other plans of recreation and enjoyment where parents and children may play together and stay togeher.

Prizes have been generously donated by merchants for each district These prizes will be distributed by judges named by the local council and will be given only to persons whose homes are within the district where prizes are donated.

CELEBRATE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Sunday September 18, will be the L. G. Scott's fiftieth wedding anniversary and the family will gather at the G. S. Kibby home for a day of celebration.

Cattlemen To Meet At El Cajon Library

The cattlemen of San Diego County will gather at the El Cajon Library on September 19th, at 10 a. m., to attend a regular meeting of their Farm Bureau Livestock Department.

Due to the importance of erosion control on the range, most of the meeting will be given over to that subject, according to F. W. Dorman, Assistant Farm Advisor. Due to the size and expense of many of the projects necessary to obtain effective erosion control on many ranges, a study will be made of the possibility of obtaining government aid, through one of its various agencies. Mr. Frood P. Smith, Secretary of the Agricultural Conservation Program will lead the discussion.

The brush burning committee will give a report on its activities. Also, a nominating committee will be selected to make nominations for the officers of the Livestock Department for the coming year.

CONSTITUTION DAY

On September 17, 1787, one of the ablest bodies of men ever gathered together in America finished an epochal task—the creation and adoption of a constitution for the American states.

Washington, Madison, Franklin, Hamilton, and more than two score others—names that illumine many of the most stirring pages of American history—contributed to the making of that constitution.

That it has survived wars, international and civil, that it proves as adequate for a nation of 130 millions living in a highly industrialized era as it did 151 years ago for an agricultural economy of some four million persons, gives the measure of its breadth, adaptability, and vitality because it insures justice.

The American system is based on popular sovereignty, and to this principle the constitution pays homage with its opening affirmation, "We, the people of the United States." In that declaration of the people's sovereignty lies the answer to the survival of the document that is honored today, and the surest guarantee of the continuation of the American form of government, even when social and economic crises and the clamor of alien faiths periodically appear to threaten it.

Constitution Day is an occasion for renewing our faith in the written instrument that has made this democracy great, and a time for renewing our allegiance to the principles of popular sovereignty. Without them, we perish. With them, we go forward to build an ever greater democracy.

EDUCATION DRAWS SWORD

It is the proud boast of Californians that their splendid public school system was adequately maintained throughout the bleak depression years. Sacrifices were made and curtailments of service endured in other spheres of civic life-but not a single California school closed its doors to California's youth.

At this time, with our educational machinery shifted smoothly into high gear for the autumn term, a body of its guardians draws a sword against movements they interpret as menaces to the schools.

The California State School Trustees Association has made public strong, blunt-worded resolutions in condemnation of the Garrison Bond Act and the Single Tax, both of which will be decided upon at the November election.

The voice of this group is a voice that commands respectful attention. It is the collective voice of the individual trustees of all school districts. They speak not as Democracts or Republicans or rich men or poor men—for the Association includes them all. They speak solely as jealous protectors of a public school system that is a model for the nation.

The Garrison Bond Act, which would destroy the two-thirds vote safeguard on bond issues, and make way for an orgy of borrowing and spending by substituting a mere majority vote, is roundly denounced as jeopardizing 'the only source of credit available to public schools and other non-revenue institutions."

Adoption of the Single Tax, the trustees hold, would dynamite the financial structure upon which California prosperity rests and plunge the school system into ruin.

The Association's sword is drawn and it voices an emphatic "No!" to both proposals.

LABOR HEADACHE

From Mexico comes a news item that has a nightmarish sequel. The news is that rail freight rates have been increased five per cent to 20 per cent. Private capital didn't raise the rates, because the railroads are government-owned. The Government didn't raise them, because the boost came 45 days after the Government, despairing of squeezing enough out of obsolete equipment and deteriorating service to satisfy rail labor, turned the management over to the workers.

At first labor celebrated the gift. But Futuro, leading workers' organ, now editorializes gloomily that "the situation is more difficult—the lines in some places are in terrible condition, cars are old; a majority of the locomotives are old—"

Labor is raising freight rates-but not the wages of the workers, already the highest paid labor group in Mexico. The revenue isn't there.

American railway brotherhoods may find close study of the Mexican labor headache profitable. It is still the hard rule that any business must pay or go under, irrespective of who holds the whip hand. Passing the buck in responsibility for management cures nothing. Mexico's railway workers are learning that wages come from revenue, not from rule, whether that rule is direct or indirect.

DOWN WITH THE DEBT

The Depression did more than pinch American pocketbooks. It taught American cities an invaluable lesson, and the beneficial results are already apparent. All over the country, states the latest bulletin of the National Municipal League, cities—except those between 30,000 and 50,000 population—are reducing their bonded debt.

Under the buffetings of depression, cities found themselves acutely oppressed by irreducible fixed charges of their bonded debts. they put the pay-as-you-go principle into practice and were able to reef their sails to meet the gusty winds of recession safely.

The report discloses 64 per cent of the cities can boast a decreasing bonded debt, 11 per cent with no increase, and 24 per cent with the debt rising. The spreading popularity of the pay-as-you-go method is genuinely auspicious in the face of incessant budget-boosting drives. California, in particular, is no stranger to these measures.

Fortunately, the current trend of cities is moving away from spending on borrowed money, and such proposals are being viewed with increasingly skeptical eyes. America did not weather a depression for nothing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH OFFICIALS CONFER ABOUT BUILDING AT 1939 SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

Officials of Christian Science churches of Southern California met this afternoon at Ninth Church of Christ Scientis, in this city to confer about the building for Christian Science activities at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco.

Floyd C. Shank of San Francisco, president of the executive board of the project, addressed the meeting and reported that the construction of the building was started on August 1 and that the foundation and wall structure has now been completed. He stated that the edifice is located near the geographic center of the Treasure Island site of the exposition, and that it will contain a Christian Science reading room and interesting displays of publications of The Christian Science Publishing Society at Boston, featuring an international daily newspaper, The Christian Monitor. The front of the main building will be of glass. Two seventy foot sign towers carrying the words "Christian Science" will form a part of the facade. A feature will be an opoque glass screen outside the base of the towers for the projection of news flashes and full page and feaure sections of the newspaper. World news will be available in the building at all hours.

The yearly teachers' reception and social evening will be held Oct. 13.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES

The Goodwill Industries of San Diego County last month distributed more than $3400 in wages among aged handicapped needy workers. A man who has been in training in the shoe shop has left to start a shop of his own, having mastered the trade under the instruction of the head repairer. This is one of the many types of service the community by this organization.

As the salvage market is still off the Goodwill is still asking its friends to burn or otherwise dispose of their papers for the present, but maazines, clothing, furniture, etc., are gratefully received.

Hundreds of American Indians in a village on Treasure Island will portray early Aboriginal life, showing handicrafts, music, dances, agriculture and ceremonials to millions of visitors as part of the Federal exhibit at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

BIBLICAL TRUTH

A. B. Huenergardt

LETTER NO. 7

The great Apostle Paul and Silas, his companion in labor, had been preaching in Philippi only a short while when they were seized by a mob and accused as trouble-makers before the rulers of the city. With very little ceremony they were turned over to the jailer with instruction that he keep them securely. So they were locked in the inner prison with their feet fastened in the stocks. Sitting in this uncomfortable position on a stone floor would certainly not incline one to sing, but these men of God beguiled the midnight hours with hymns of praise and thanksgiving. Suddenly, "there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken: and immediately all the doors opened, and every one's bands were loosed. And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had fled. But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we are all here. Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling and fell down before Paul and Silas, and brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:26-30)—and that is the question I promised to answer for you in this story.

"What must I do to make sure of my part in that better world where everything that mars, and destroys will be gone forever?" the jailer put it simply, "What must I do to be saved?" and Paul did not fail to answer him. Listen to this answer, "And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved, and thy house. And they spake unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house. And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he all his, straightway. And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house. SIMPLE, isn't it? The jailer realized that these two men had with them greater power than he had ever witnessed—power to hold every prisoner spell-bound in the dark—a power not to bind and destroy but to deliver and to save. It appealed to him so that he asked for it. He saw himself a doomed and dead man, before the authorities of the city, and had decided then and there to end it all. But when Paul spoke, he saw hope, and grasped it without hesitation. It was just what he knew he needed right then and he reached for it and it was his. I say again, ISN'T IT SIMPLE?

SUN BEATS S. D. IN TAKING WATER FROM RESERVOIRS

San Diego has stepped its water use up to around 27 million gallons daily, but evaporation is taking almost twice that much from municipal lakes, Fred Pyle, hydraulic engineer, reported yesterday.

During the last 10 days the city drew 269,683,000 gallons from its reservoirs. The sun drew 538,917,000 gallons.

The resevoirs now cotain 102,088,800,000 gallons and are at 96.5 percent of capacity. Pyle reported This figure is 12 billions above storage at the same time in 1937.

Evaporation takes a much heavier toll from the lakes when the level is high and the water is spread over a large area, Pyle said.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever."

The Lesson-Sermon includes these Bible verses about Jesus, from Luke: "And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath. And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: "Our Master treated error through Mind." "Science not only reveals the origin of all disease as mental, but it also declares that all disease is cured by divine Mind."

Which Way is North?

C. C. Y.

A lot of things have happened since last week. I see where Fred McMurray was down in this section hunting doves last week. Just why a great movie star like Fred would want to shoot the poor little doves is hard to understand.

Douglas Corrigan arrived in San Diego Sunday morning and was given a rousing reception. It seems that the "Wrong Way" is some times the right way, or at least it seems that way for Corrigan. If he had flown the right way he would simply have come back to Los Angeles and would have received only a casual mention from New York, but by flying the wrong way he has become a world wide figure and a wealthy man as well. Douglas made an appearance at Lane Field Sunday afternoon and was kept busy writing autographs for half an hour.

Played "hooky" from business last Saturday morning and went over to Oceanside and took a fishing trip on the "Sportsman" the new diesel motored fishing boat that Mr. Bartell has put into commission this season. This boat is clean and has plenty of rail room for fishing for fifty of sixty people. Last Saturday there were only about 20 fishermen on the boat so that there was a great plenty of room for all to fish. This boat leaves the Oceanside pier at 7:00 in the morning and is due back at 3:00 in the afternoon. You can secure sandwhiches, soft drinks and beer right on the boat besides fishing tackle that you might happen to need.

Last Saturday was a big day for the fishermen who took this trip as they ran into a big run of yellowtail and when the excitement was all over, 75 yellowtail had been caught and when we arrived at the pier pictures of the catch were taken to prove the story. Singularly, there was not a barracuda nor a mackeral caught on the boat that day. Two young men on the boat went home with 19 yellowtail betwees them and said that it was the best days fishing they had ever had. Yours truly had the good luck to land three yellowtail and plenty of bass and can recommend this trip as a good one for those who enjoy a good day's fishing.

Sunday we spent at the home of my sister at La Mesa who served an old fashioned fried chicken dinner and then took us up to the top of Mount Helix for the first time. To say that the view from up there is grand does not half express it even though there was a heavy fog over the bay which obscured the view toward the ocean. The bird's eye view of the El Cajon valley from the top of Mt Helix is wonderful and well worth the trip up the mountain.

School started last Monday and vacation is over. This was particularly noticeable Monday morning by the absence of the kids on the street. Vacations are a fine thing but there is one trouble with them, they are too short on the last end.

Had a ground cherry pie the other day and that is something new in this section or at least we have never been able to buy any here. These cherries were given to my daughter by a friend in Iowa and brought through fresh. If you want anything better than a dish of ground cherry pie and cream just try and get another.

President Roosevelt and a number of the members of his family have been at Rochester, Minnesota, a few days this past week while the son James, underwent an operation at St. Mary's Hospital. Press reports are to the effect that Jimmie is recovering very nicely from his operation and that the President had been dividing his attention between the condition of his son and developements in the strained and unsettled condition of affairs in Europe. But Jimmie Roosevelt doesn't need to think he is doing anything great by having an operation at St. Mary's Hospital at Rochester, I did that much, myself.

A nurse at Rochester called the President down for making so much noise in the hospital where his son, James, was recovering from an operation. The state of Maryland also called him down for telling them to defeat Senator Tydings who was the cadidate for re-election. So now they are booming the Senator for President in 1940. It begins to look as if one should get on the President's purge list if he wants to be elected to office or be boomed for Presidet in 1940.

And now comes Georgia, the President's "adopted state" electing Senator George whom the chief executive told them to defeat. His pet "yes" man, Mr. Camp, ran a poor third. Wonder what Mr. Farley thinks now about his advice to the state of Maine to "elect New Dealers and come along with the rest of the country"?

POLICE PROTECTION

Numerous inquires regarding the police protection supplied this vicinity by the county sheriff's office may be answered by the following:

The Farmer's Corner

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

No 1 Farm State in the Nation production, California now has in the value of its total agriculture achieved complete dominance in commercial truck crops-chalking up another "first' to be added to its honor roll!

A big truck crop producer for several years, California, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, now leads the list of states in both vegetable acreage and cash returns.

The truck crop acreage in California for the last year was 582,900 and the value of the vegetables harvested was $93,990,000!

Florida, second state in line in point of income from truck crops, had a total return of only $25,717,000-slightly more than a fourth the value of California's bumper crop. On the basis of values, New York State ranked third; Texas, fourth, New Jersey, fifth. And on acreage basis, California was first, with Texas second; Indiana third, Wisconsin, fourth, and Maryland, fifth.

Indicative of the broad diversification of California's crops, the commodities which ranked large in this state's production totals last year included; artichokes, asparagus, snap beans, cabbage, cantaloupes, carrots, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, garlic, lettuce, onions, peas, peppers, potatoes, spinach, strawberries, tomatoes and watermelons.

Meat Packing, according to the State Department of Agriculture, is now California's third most important manufacturing industry on a product-value basis.

And the department gives much of the credit for the remarkable growth of the industry to the high degree of protection provided consumers of California meats.

"Cooperation of the industry in maintaining sanitary establishments and in employing the most effective methods of handling meats," reports Dr. C. U. Duckworth, chief of the Division of Animal Industry, "has been one of the main factors contributing to the high rank which California holds in meat inspection service.

"Buildings, equipment and methods, have all shown splendid improvement and it is quite evident that the California meat packing industry intends to keep abreast of changing conditions and thereby strengthen its hold on public confidence."

Dr. Duckworth reports, incidentally, that efforts to administer the sanitary requirements at establishments in outlying sections have been increasingly successful and that as a result of cooperation shown by owners of slaughterhouses in remote areas the state can be proud of the sanitary conditions in even the most isolated meat packing plants.

"It appears desirable to mention the present method of financing the meat inspection work," Dr. Duckworth's report states, inasmuch as financing causes most of the difficulty encountred in our administering activities.

"Slaughterers and meat processors operating under State Meat Inspection must pay to the state a monthly fee to defray the cost of the inspector's salary, workmen's compensation, employes' retirement and overhead expenses. Since meat inspection is of direct benefit to the public health, a feeling exists on the part of some that the work should be financed out of the general state treasury."

There are increasing indications that an attempt will be made at the next session of the Legislature to have the sate, rather than the industry assume the cost of meat inspection service. And this would remove the last cause of the public feeling that meat inspectors are influenced in their work by the packers who put up the money for their salaries.
